A MESSAGE
from the Mayor

On behalf of the members of the Town Council and all residents, I am delighted to bring greetings as we approach summer in Fort Erie. We have so much to offer to residents and visitors alike – pristine beaches, a variety of recreational facilities, multi-purpose trails, user-friendly libraries, historic sites, our own horse racing track and zoo, and unique shopping opportunities.

Literally something for everyone: cyclists, boaters, bird watchers, golfers, hikers, outdoor and sports enthusiasts of all kinds, young and old. Take advantage of the many programs, events and activities reflected in this Guide throughout our Town throughout the year. The only problem that you will encounter is trying to determine how to take in everything there is to offer.

Welcome to Fort Erie! Whether you live in Fort Erie or are visiting for a few hours or a few days, we know that you will enjoy yourself!

Mayor Wayne Redekop

COMMUNITIES IN ONTARIO

are dealing with an invasive pest known as the Emerald Ash Borer, first discovered in Canada in 2002. This metallic green-coloured beetle has destroyed more than 20 million Ash trees in North American, and poses a major economic and environmental threat to urban and forested areas across the country. Emerald Ash Borer has been identified in Fort Erie.

URBAN FORESTRY

Town Tree The Tulip Tree (Liriodendron tulipifera) is the official town tree, selected because it is native to the area and a Carolinian species. The Tulip Tree is noteworthy for its large tulip shaped leaves and fragrant tulip-like flowers that appear in mid-spring. The Town tree grows 80 to 100 feet tall and maintains a fairly narrow oval crown, even as it grows older.

EMERALD ASH BORER

The Emerald Ash Borer larvae destroys the layer under the bark, that is responsible for transporting nutrients and water throughout the tree. With this transport system blocked, an otherwise healthy tree may die in 2 to 5 years, depending on its age and the extent of infestation.

How You can Help

- Report signs and symptoms of infested trees to the Canada Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) at 800-442-2342 or www.inspection.gc.ca, or contact the OMNR at 800-667-1940.
- Watch for signs of infestation and keep trees well-watered and fertilized. Trees dead or dying from emerald ash borer should be cut and burned, chipped. If the appropriate permit is obtained from a CFIA inspector, trees from within an infested area may be properly processed for lumber.
- Manage for healthy trees and healthy forests. Follow best management practices for woodlots, and encourage a diversity of tree species.
- Don't move infested wood material to new areas.
- Firewood should be obtained locally, burned on-site, and not left behind.

Refer to Canadian Food Inspection Agency (www.inspection.gc.ca) or the Ministry of Natural Resources (www.mnr.gov.on.ca) on how to slow the spread of the Emerald Ash Borer, how to deal with Emerald Ash Borer on your property, and trees to plant instead of Ash.

THE BATTLE OF RIDGEWAY

occurred on June 2, 1866 between the Canadian Militia and the Fenian Army. These Irish-American veterans from the U.S. Civil War intended to capture the British Province of Canada and use it to barter with Britain for Ireland's freedom.

Canadian soldiers were deployed to Ridgeway and to the Fort Erie dock to fight the Fenian Army. While the Fenians won these battles, they lost the campaign — retreating back to Buffalo where they were subsequently arrested by the United States government and charged with violating the U.S. Neutrality Act.

Canadian politicians and citizens realized that they could not rely on Britain to defend this land, and that a confederation of the provinces would result in better national security. Canada became a country one year later.

The 150th anniversary of this nation-building event was celebrated on June 4, 2016 with a parade, ceremony and festival that included the descendants of the regiments that fought at the Battle of Ridgeway — The Queen's Own Rifles of Canada and The Royal Hamilton Light Infantry (Wentworth Regiment).

Fort Erie has several permanent Battle of Ridgeway pieces in place such as:

- Ridgeway Battlefield Park – outdoor interpretive exhibits on the battlefield (3388 Garrison Road)
- Memorial to The Ridgeway Nine – honouring the nine Queen's Own Rifles soldiers killed at this battle (at Ridgeway Battlefield Park)
- Federal cairn – commemorating the nationally designated battlefield (at Ridgeway Battlefield Park)
- Bronze plaque – honouring all the soldiers who were killed as a result of being deployed to this battle — several died

months later due to diseases contracted at this campaign (at Ridgeway Battlefield Park)
- DZ Ridgeway Nine – a military drop zone established in honour of Ridgeway Nine (at Ridgeway Battlefield Park)
- Heritage Ironwood tree plaque – designating this "Witness Tree" which stood during the battle (at Ridgeway Battlefield Park)
- Fort Erie Historical Museum – artifacts and archives relating to the Fenian Raid (402 Ridge Road)
- First Hand Accounts – a new book focusing on quotes from people who were there at the time (at the Fort Erie Historical Museum)
- Period paintings – 23 watercolours painted c. 1866— depicting the invasion, battle and aftermath (at the Fort Erie Historical Museum)
- Provincial plaque – commemorating the battle ( at Ridgeway Village Square)
- Alderson Court – a street named in honour of Private Christopher Alderson who was killed at this battle (off Rebstock Road)
- Memorial tablet – in honour of The Ridgeway Nine (at People's Memorial United Church)
- Gravestone – in honour of Corporal William Carrington, the British soldier who died in Snyder (at St. John's United Church)

The 1866 Fenian Raid and Battle of Ridgeway are pivotal events in the history of Canada, Fort Erie and the Canadian Armed Forces. The first battle of the modern Canadian Army (formed in 1855) was fought here in Ridgeway and the first modern Canadian soldier to be killed in battle died at Ridgeway (Ensign Malcolm McEachren).

To quote Gunner Albert Reavley, who served during this invasion, "The Fenian Raid was a great shock to the people of Canada ... It proved that Canada, however well-behaved, was liable to attack, thus demonstrating the need of defence, and what was still more important the need of unity. ... Following two conventions of the Fathers of Confederation, the raid gave a decisive impulse to the union movement."

Discover Fort Erie's role in the birth of our nation and honour the sacrifices paid by the soldiers who fought at the Battle of Ridgeway by visiting the many commemorative attractions throughout town.
